Up Genius to sign up for a time slot of your choice. As a reminder, tomorrow will be the last day to sign up or make adjustments using the system. If you are having difficulty or need to make a change, please email your teacher so that an agreed upon time can be chosen. Most of our Upper Grade students are encouraged to come to be an active member of their learning team!

We are getting closer to the state CAASPP online assessments. We are currently finalizing the testing schedules, teachers will send specific dates and times home as soon as it is completed. We will not begin the assessment prior to Spring Break, so more information will follow. Students in grades 3-6 are accessing our computer labs on a regular basis, interim benchmarks have been taken using the online system, and additional practice assessments will be given to ensure students feel comfortable accessing the system. Please continue to reassure students that though we want students to take the assessment process seriously, this is just one measure of their abilities to meet the new state standards. If you would like to look at the practice and training tests, you can find them at : <http://www.caaspp.org/practice-and-training/index.html> Choose student, log in as a guest, and select your child's grade. Choose any of the 8 options (training tests, practice tests, or performance tasks) to sample the system.

Finally, we are very excited to announce the district-wide roll-out of our Chromebooks in grades 1-3. Teachers are receiving district training and then Chromebooks are being delivered. All 1-3rd grade classrooms should have 1:4 Chromebook to student ratios by the end of the month. Teachers will receive ongoing training on integration of these laptops via our IT department as well as our Technology Teachers on Special Assignment (TOSA's).

We are continuing to accept enrollment paperwork, so please make sure to share this information with neighbors who may still need to enroll their children! Thank you and have a wonderful week!
